MGQW-15692, dated 15 August 1952

Could ZIPPER be asked for further information, including if possible the true name of V-7630? Since we know very little about the operational details of UJDROLLERY 1201, a report on where the V-7630 - V-8936 meetings are held, how frequently they take place, and how they are arranged would be most helpful in enabling us to obtain a clearer picture of this case. Does V-7630's background indicate that he is qualified to handle this case in a secure, effective manner?

EGLA-136, 12 September 1952

"...In the meantime, a check of POB files gives a partial reply to your query in the first sentence of reference para 8 (MGQW-15692). We have the individual in question extensively documented under the name Kurt HOLGERS, born 15 July 1910 in Loetzen, East Prussia. He carries Frankfurt/M Kennkarte HE-III-H 533 969, issued 25 May 1951, which lists his residence as Gartnerweg 6, Frankfurt/M. This address is, however, false, as the Master List shows him to reside in Duesseldorf. He is described as 188 cm tall, slim, blue eyes. We would normally suppose that the name in which he holds a Frankfurt/M Kennkarte, with false address, to be a cover name. However, much rail travel in the Western Zones and airlift travel to Berlin is performed under true names. All that can be said is that the name HOLGERS is used quite consistently in all documentation which has come to our attention. This is an exception to the general ZIPPER practice as we have observed it. HOLGERS is described as a political economist. After a thorough check of our files, we are still unable to locate previously unconnected possible true name identities. The Duesseldorf telephone directory does not list a Kurt HOLGERS. We shall ask ZIPPER directly. Attached for your file is a photograph of HOLGERS.

and ~~CHOLGERS~~ is a very tall, thin man, about 210 pounds. He is a very early part of the day, about 10:00 a.m. voice, a flushed red face, and an almost bald head. He wears no wedding ring but wears a small golden ring with a black stone on the small finger of his left hand. He is a non-smoker but a heavy drinker and eater. He had four helpings of chicken, 10 cigars. He worked as an intelligence officer for the Germans on the East Front during World War II and / . Illegal operations against the Soviets. At the end of the war he was in Harbin and, utilizing the techniques he had taught his agents, he succeeded in escaping from the Russian and Allied forces who had been a price on his head. He met his previous doctor, then Albany, New York several years after the war and, as the doctor spoke no German, ~~CHOLGERS~~ was forced to learn English which he now speaks

(by his own admission) better than he speaks Russian. ~~CHORTMANN~~ and ~~CHOLGERS~~ spoke Russian on occasion during dinner and it was apparent that ~~CHOLGERS~~' Russian is somewhat less fluent than ~~CHORTMANN~~'s. ~~CHOLGERS~~ is a big, gruff, loud-spoken man who appears to know his way around the intelligence business. He appears to be a man who would relish utilizing some of the infamous FEAR techniques of twenty-five years ago and, unable to do so, feels confined and frustrated. He admitted looking for some good reliable criminal types who are able to obey orders and maintain security. He admitted that operational success can never be guaranteed because of the intangible, luck, which is essential to every success. He also felt that operations should begin on a low level and gradually work upwards and opposed ~~CHORTMANN~~'s views quite forcefully. He is looking forward with relish to a month's vacation (bone fide) in July when he can completely forget his work. He is the head of the ~~UPSTIG~~ Zweigstelle.
